Introducing Rezhin Qubbadi

Rezhin commenced the Introduction to Women’s Studies at the Pooraka Farm Community Centre in early 2017.

At the time, Rezhin was a member of the women’s group at the Parafield Gardens Children Centre and was looking at ways in which to engage in her community.

Rezhin was a model student who was actively involved in the program as well as the many activities being undertaken at the community centre. Through her involvement in the program, her confidence, communication skills and ability to stand up for herself developed quickly.

Rezhin found her strengths through the program and she developed a focus to achieve her goals. She clearly established what she wanted out of life, what kind of people she wanted to be around and how she was going to get there. She learnt the skills to balance her home life with her personal growth and find her own voice.

Rezhin has now begun volunteering at the Parafield Gardens Children’s Centre. She is planning to commence the Certificate 3 in Women’s Studies at TAFE SA in 2019 and has a goal of studying at university when her children are a little older.

Rezhin now has the skills, ability and confidence to succeed in whatever she puts her mind to.
